Fulton, Tupelo Unity programs set Feb. 19

Staff Reports ICC's Student Government Association and Student Activities have scheduled Celebration of Unity programs at both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses, Feb. 19.

The Tupelo Campus program will be at noon in the student presentation room of the Student Support Center, and the Fulton Campus event will be at 7 p.m. in the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center auditoriun

SPEAKERS

Robert Solomon of Tupelo, ICC's director of admissions/registrar, will be the speaker for the Tupelo Campus program, and ICC alumnus Dee Stegall of Smithville, who is currently a student at Mississippi State University will be the Fulton Campus speaker.

TUPELO

Solomon is a native of Savannah, Ga. and a product of the Chatham County School System. After graduating from Savannah High School, he attended Tuskegee University where he earned the bachelor's degree in business administration and later, the master's degree from Troy State University in human resource management.

Currently he is pursuing the doctoral degree in business administration with a concentration in leadership from Walden University. Solomon also attended Greater Mount Calvary Bible College and is an ordained minister.

His background also includes service as a commissioned officer in the United States Army and a dean for academic affairs with Savannah Technical College. His memberships include Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. He is married to Linda Solomon. - See Unity on page nine.

SAFETY First

Staff Reports

Friday morning. January 18. A quiet morning at the ICC Belden Center. People thinking about weekend plans. Until...an ICC ALERT.

Although it was only a test of ICC's emergency procedures, the almost two hour drill and debriefing involved an active shooter and hostage situation as well as the arrival of SWAT personnel.

COLLABORATION

ICC's emergency management team participated in the drill which was a collaboration with the Tupelo Police Department.

"Practice is what we need," said ICC Dean of Students Dr. Brad Boggs. "The only way we get better and learn is to practice an event like this. We're not perfect, but we want to expose our holes and gaps (in our system). We are able to mitigate that and move forward."

Boggs urged all participants to

SKILL PRACTICE

As the situation unfolded, hostage negotiators, including ICC Campus Police Chief Ricky Brasel practiced their skills in pleading for the release of hostages. "If you come out," one said, "we're not going to hurt you. It's only a disturbance. That's all you've done. I want you to come out. I want you to be okay."

Boggs said that training faculty and staff is key in any type of College emergency.

ADDITIONAL DRILLS

With that in mind, additional drills are planned for Feb. 18 at both the Fulton and Tupelo cam-

The mock safety training exercises will be conducted in coordination with the Fulton and Tupelo Police Department as well as the ment, Boggs said.

The Fulton Campus drill is scheduled for 8-11:30 a.m. at the Boggs Humanities Building, and at the Tupelo Campus at the Student Support Center from 12:30-3 p.m.

TRAINING EXERCISE

The event is only a training exercise, which will involve the majority of ICC's faculty and staff at all locations. The normal operation of the facilities will not be disrupted since classes won't meet on Feb. 18 due to Presidents' Day," Boggs said.

During the debriefing, ICC President Dr. Jay Allen expressed appreciation to all participants, including Major Anthony Hill and the Tupelo Police Department. "We hope this will be a learning experience. We have found things to work on and we appreciate our continued

Involvement is an opportunity

With a new semester comes a new start, one to which many students here at Itawamba Community College have been looking forward since the time they took midterms last fall.

With new classes comes new instructors, material and peers. Some students are enrolled in easier classes than last semester, while some are having to already buckle down to prepare for the hardest courses they have taken to date. Most classes are filled with people with whom they haven't shared a class before, giving an opportunity to make new friends. Others have those recurring friendly faces that we know so well and look forward to seeing every day.

There are many things that have changed with the new year, such as the return of longawaited ICC basketball games, along with multiple sports which have either begun or are scheduled to start soon. The intramural sports have fired back up, offering such options as basketball, volleyball and flag football. The Grill began to serve new food options at the start of the semester, which includes personal pizzas, a college student's favorite. Activities are starting up again with the various clubs and organizations that ICC provides both for new and returning students so that no one has an excuse not to be

With all of the new opportunities available for students of Itawamba Community College, one might be confused and flustered about how to fully experience all that the College has to offer.

I spent my first year here at ICC being somewhat of a recluse and not making many new friends or going out to try new things. ut of all the things in my life, this is one of the moments that I regret the most, not taking advantage of what was surrounding me.

For my last semester here an overall last year at ICC, I have chosen to take risks and gain the immense rewards that they provide

I wish this for every student who attends this remarkable college and hope that each one takes the opportunity to make the most out of their time here and this new year.

It's an opportunity that could lead to lifetime memories and friendships as well as experiences that you would never have had unless you take the challenge. Get involved today!

Moving on is better than revenge

Emotions can get the better of someone, and taking action because of emotion can cause a person to do something that he/she will regret later.

You know those emotions that you have that can make you think negatively.

Revenge is one of those emotions. Seeking revenge on someone can seem like the best solution at the time. You plan day and night just thinking of ways to get revenge on that person. You want him or her to get what he/she deserves. You want him or her to suffer the same way he/she made you feel. Thinking to yourself that revenge is the only solution, but is it worth it in the long haul?

Personally I don't think revenge is the way to deal with a problem. There are too many great things in the world to do than seek revenge on someone. To me, revenge is just a waste of time. I could be doing better things with my time than thinking about that per-

I know that a person could truly do something to you that can hurt you in all kinds of ways. You feel like, "I hope they get what's coming to them," or wish for karma. Wishing revenge on someone is normal behavior. Sometimes we think about revenge, but we don't really mean it. You really don't want that person to suffer or be miserable. You are just living in the moment.

Revenge can only make things worse. Once you seek revenge, everything can change. You are basically putting yourself on the same level as he/she. Getting revenge puts you at your worst. Physical altercations can occur, property can be destroyed, etc. Some people think revenge is the only way to solve the issue. They seem like revenge is the way to show the person that he/she is not the one to be "messed with."

Revenge can hurt people outside of the issue that is between the two of you. That person could possibly lose a job over what you did for revenge. Some people believe that if the other person suffers as much or more than they do, they will feel better about it in the end.

Forgiveness is something people should learn to do more. It is okay to forgive someone for what he/she did. I understand that some people do not deserve forgiveness, but revenge is not the answer. Possibly people will think that you are a pushover, but in reality you are just seeking peace out of the situation. You can easily just cut the person off for good, and never speak or acknowledge him/her forever. You can close all communication. If you do choose to forgive, you probably will remember what happened. You'll remember what that person is capable of doing and how you were treated and could possibly treat you that way again

Revenge is never the answer to any situation. Always be the bigger person and just move on.

"When Life Gives You Lemons, Make Lemon Meringue Pie" Britt-Begnaud discusses student struggles with college during presentation

STEPHANIE HEATHERLY Staff Writer

This year's recipient of ICC's Mississippi Humanities Council Teacher Award is Anna Britt-Begnaud, chairman of the Communication Division.

As a requirement for receiving the award, Begnaud presented "When Life Gives You Lemons, Make Lemon Meringue Pie: Success in Less than Ideal Circumstances, Jan. 15, in the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center auditorium at the Fulton Campus

PERSONAL STRUGGLES

Begnaud spoke about her personal struggles with college in less than ideal circumstances. While listing obstacles that are out of students' control such as high levels of anxiety, roommate issues, poor food choices and sleep deprivation, Begnaud described all of the interruptions students face while attending college. "You can do anything for two years," Begnaud said. "She then transitioned into a recipe for meringue and listed all the things that can go wrong in the process of making the meringue such as humidity and stirring speed. After comparing the two very long lists of how difficult meringue is to make and how many problems students have that are out of their control, Begnaud made a clear statement, "Meringue is hard, so is college,"

EVALUATE WHAT WORKS

Begnaud then showed a video clip from a British baking show in which one of the contestants had failed at making baked Alaska. The contestant threw the entire dish into the garbage rather than letting the judges taste his food, because he was so disappointed in himself. However, the cake and meringue part of his dish were salvageable; the judge informed the contestant that he could have tested the pieces that worked, i.e., the cake and meringue. Begnaud used the clip to explain that failures don't define us as people, we need to use the pieces that work. Much like the baking contestant, students tend to torpedo themselves. Students miss assignments and class, plagiarize or drop classes. She encouraged all students in the audience to talk to their instructors if something doesn't go as planned. Though students may not have the family support they once had in high school due to living on campus, Begnaud said that "Students are not alone.. Your instructors are your support system." SUCCESS

According to Begnaud, success is not just about getting an A. Grades are not indicators of future job performance; the skills learned from overcoming a difficult course are often more beneficial than the straight A's so many students strive for. Begnaud's final advice was, "When life gives you lemons, make lemon meringue pie. And when you fail because meringue is hard, use some of your lemons to make lemon squares instead. The world doesn't end, and it's going to be okay.'

THE AWARD

Dr. Stuart Rockoff, executive director of the Mississippi Humanities Council, introduced Begnaud at the presentation. "The goal of the Council is to bring the insights of the humanities to the larger public," said Rockoff. The teacher recipients, like Mrs. Begnaud, show what the Council perceives as individuals who share and exhibit the goals of the Coun-

President Allen to receive PTK Paragon Award

Staff Reports

Itawamba Community College President Dr. Jav Allen has been selected as a recipient of Phi Theta Kappa's Paragon Award for New Presidents.

The awards are given to new college presidents who have shown strong support of student success by recognizing academic achievement, leadership and service among high-achieving students at their college. Recipients were nominated by students on their campus.

"It is an honor to be nominated by our students for this award," Allen said. "It is most rewarding to watch students succeed as they grow in leadership and academics during their participation in the PTK organization."

Allen became ICC's seventh president on July 1, 2017 after serving as president and chief executive officer of Hopkinsville Community College in Kentucky since January 2014. A native Mississippian, he has served in several leadership positions at Hinds Community College and as a senior-level administrator for Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College - Perkinston and the George County Center - for a combined total of 23 years. He earned the associate's degree in May 1991 from Hinds Community College, the bachelor's degree in 1993 and the master's degree in 1995, both from Mississippi State University; and the doctorate in higher education administration from the University of Mississippi in 2000. His educational experience includes such areas as both academic and career and technical education, student services, institutional development, information technology, business services, athletics, workforce and other non-credit areas. Dr. Allen and his wife, Belinda, have two daughters, Emma Grace, 15; and Mollianne, Allen is one of 25 new presidents who will receive the award from Phi Theta Kappa, which is the premier honor society recognizing the academic achievement of students at associate-degree granting colleges and helping them to grown as scholars and leaders. The society is composed of more than 3.5 million members and nearly 1,300 chapters in 10 nations. More than 500 college presidents were eligible to receive the award.

The awards will be presented during PTK Catalyst 2019, the society's annual convention, Apr. 4-

'Complete 2 Compete' helps Mississippi adults finish degrees

Over the past year, the 'Complete to Compete' program has increased the number of adults finishing degrees at Mississippi's public universities and community colleges. The initiative provides students with a $500 grant at the beginning of each semester to help cover tuition, supplies or other enrollment expenses. Students qualify if they are 21 or older, have been out of school for 24 months and have obtained some college credits without graduating.

"The C2C is an initiative to get more people over the finish line with a college degree," said Emily Tucker, a recruiter and adviser at Itawamba Community College who oversees the school's C2C program. On an individual level, the college degree means more opportunities for career ad-

BAND SETS Indianette Clinic, Auditions

 $Staff\,Reports$

The ICC All-American Band will host a preaudition clinic for those who are interested in auditioning for the Indianettes, beginning at 9 a.m., Mar. 30, in the Band Hall at the Fulton Campus.

A choreographer will demonstrate and teach body awareness, across the floors and movement combinations in order to give candidates a better idea of expectations for future auditions. The cost of the clinic is $10, and attendance is voluntary.

Auditions for ICC's Drum Majors, Indianettes and Color Guard will be Apr. 13 beginning at 10 a.m. in the Band Hall. There is no fee, and students may audition for more than one position although it should be communicated upon arrival.

For both Indianette and color guard candidates, the audition material and choreography will be taught and demonstrated at auditions. Students will need to dress in appropriate attire consisting of all black dance clothes with dance shoes or tennis shoes. Pants, shorts or leggings are all acceptable. Clothing should not hinder movement.

For those who cannot participate in auditions due to conflicts, both Indianette and color guard options could be available.

For more information, contact Ryan Todd at ratodd@iccms.edu or Christy Colburn at cacolburn@iccms.edu.

Collection in gallery featured work by four Mississippi artists.

"FOUR STORIES TALL," a collection of four Mississippi artists engaged in the narrative tradition, closed Friday at the Fulton Campus.

The exhibit featured a wide range of media, including ceramics, watercolor, acrylic, oil paint and drawing by artists Gail Morton of Pontotoc, Robin Whitfield of Grenada, Miriam Wahl of Madison and Randy Hayward Jolly of Vicksburg.

Jolly earned the B.F.A. degree in art education from the University of Southern Mississippi, M.S.Ed. degree in art education and M.F.A. degree with emphasis in painting and drawing from Mississippi College. His studio emphasis at the University of Southern Mississippi was in three-dimensional media: sculpture and pottery. He has taught art for 42 years. He and his wife, Becky, live in Vicksburg, where he maintains a studio to work on his art and teach classes.

Whitfield is a graduate of Delta State University with a B.F.A. degree in painting and drawing. She has been on the Mississippi Arts Commission Roster since 2006, an artist-inresidence for ArtPlace Mississippi since 2002 and an Audubon Master Naturalist of Mississippi since 2007. She has given creative workshops and exhibited her work widely across the state for the past 15 $\,$ years. Her artworks and illustrations have been featured in numerous publications

Morton earned the B.F.A. degree from the University of Mississippi and her master of secondary art education degree from Delta State University. After many years of teaching art at North Pontotoc High School, Morton retired and now teaches art at Blue Mountain College.

Wahl earned the B.F.A. degree from the University of Mississippi, master's degree from Virginia Tech and a doctoral degree in education from the University of Mississippi with a focus on arts integration. She taught in both Vicksburg and Lafayette County and currently teaches art classes at Mississippi College.

The work of Itawamba Community College art students will be featured in the gallery between Feb. 25 and Mar. 29.

MAKE A NOTE OF IT

JUST A REMINDER...

Review lockdown procedures

ICC's faculty, staff and students are urged to review campus lockdown procedures.

"The procedures are meant to be very simple because at the point of a lockdown, the major concern is the safety of all of the individuals in the campus community," said Dr. Brad Boggs, dean of students.

Notifications will be communicated via ICC ALERT, email and the Emergency Information Web

Upon notification of campus lockdown, everyone must react immediately.

The procedures include

- 1) Lock all doors and windows
- 2) Close all blinds.
- 3) Turn off lights.
- 4) Use room furnishings to barricade doors and as protection.
- 5) Everyone should sit on the floor, away from doors and windows
- 6) Make no noise
- 7) Remain in lockdown until it is cleared with a notice via ICC ALERT or the police/administrator gives te ALL CLEAR code.

In addition, these are procedures in the event of severe weather conditions or evacuation.

Individuals should check ICC's website, www.iccms.edu, for information. It's located under Campus Safety on the home page.

Sign up for ICC ALERT

ICC provides a mass notification system called ICC ALERT.

Students, faculty and staff are encouraged to participate in the free service.

ICC ALERT has been utilized for inclement weather situations when classes and offices were closed due to snow and icing conditions and when storms threatened the area.

To sign up to receive emergency messages through ICC ALERT: 1) Log on to the myTribe portal using your name and password: 2) Click ICC ALERT system in the link section on the bottom right; 3) Log in with your same username and password as myTribe to add/update your information.

For assistance with technical issues, contact the TIS Help Desk at (662) 862-8295 or via email at helpdesk@iccms.edu.

Litter-free

Everyone is reminded to use trash receptacles for litter. It's up to all of us to show our pride by ensuring that all three locations are litter-free.

Shuttle

Students commuting between the Fulton and Tupelo campuses continue to have the opportunity to take advantage of a free shuttle service.

The service begins and ends in Fulton with stops in front of the Student Services buildings on both campuses as well as at the Health Science Education Center at the Tupelo Campus.

Those who ride the shuttle must have a valid ICC ID card. The shuttle departs from Fulton at 7:15 a.m. and from Tupelo at 8 a.m. In the afternoon, it departs from Fulton at 3 p.m. and Tupelo at 3:35 p.m.

No noise

Unnecessary noise is banned at Itawamba Community College, including loud music, yelling and screaming.

Students who are found guilty of noise violations will be fined, and the fine will double with each suc-

Staff Reports

ICC astronomy instructor Bob Swanson of Tupelo was among more than 30 participants from the NASA/IPAC Teacher Archive Research Program who attended the winter meeting of the American Astronomical Society from Jan. 6-10 in Seattle, Wash. He is the first Mississippi educator to participate in NITARP.

For more than a decade, NI-TARP has partnered small groups of educators with a research astronomer for original, year-long research projects. At the AAS meeting, the educators from the 2018 class, along with some of their students, presented the results of their work over the past vear.

As part of NITARP's 2019 class, Swanson will be teamed with three other educators from Iowa, Kansas and Massachusetts. as well as selected students, to work with astrophysicist Dr.Luisa Rebull of Caltech. In his spare time, Swanson writes and records children's music about weather (Stormin' Bob Swanson, the Singing Weatherman) and gives science presentations to local schools, libraries and community groups. He and his wife, Meredith, are the parents of three sons, D.J., Nate and Henry.

NITARP works with educators because, through them, NITARP reaches thousands of students per year with information about how science really works, what NASA does and the wealth of astronomy data that is freely available to the public.

IPAC, based at Caltech in Pasadena, Calif., is leading this program. The teams use archival data from the Spitzer Space Telescope (part of the Spitzer Heritage Archive (SHA), the NASA/IPAC Extragalactic Database (NED), the NASA Exoplanet Archive, the NASA/IPAC Infrared Science Archive (IRSA), all of which are based at IPAC, and other NASA archive holdings. CPRAM offers scholarship opportunity

State college public relations officials are doing their part to encourage students to continue their interest in the area of communication at Mississippi's two- and four-year colleges with two $1,000 scholarships.

Students applying for the College Public Relations Association of Mississippi scholarship must be majoring in one of the following fields of study: public relations, communications, journalism, advertising, mass communications, political communications, crisis management, graphic design or other communication-oriented major. The scholarships could ce awarded to a student entering or enrolled at the state's two-year or four-year colleges. The student also must be enrolled full time.

Scholarship applicants must be in good standing and present three letters of recommendation from individuals connected to their academic institution. This includes college advisers, high school teacher/official, homeschool teacher, etc. Students may be recommended by an active CPRAM member

The applicants must complete in full the scholarship application and return it to the scholarship committee no later than Feb. 15. Applicants also must include a 500-word essay entitled, "With all the changes being made in the field of Communications, what skills do I have to keep up with those changes?

Students receiving the scholarship can be awarded the scholarship for more than one year, but they must reapply every year, the scholarship committee reserves the right to make its decision based on need, merit and the number of applicants each year.

The committee will announce the winners during its annual conference in May. The scholarship will be awarded for the 2019 fall

CPRAM reserves the right to revoke the scholarship if a student withdraws from school during the award year, changes his or her major, fails to maintain a 2.0 GPA or other grave instances of misconduct.

For more information, contact Donna Thomas, member of the scholarship committee. dsthomas@iccms.edu or (662) 862-8244.

PHI THETA KAPPA RECEIVES $440K GRANT

Staff Reports

Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society has received a grant of more than $440,000 from the Woodward Hines Education Foundation to fund membership in PTK for more than 6,000 high-achieving but in-need students attending Mississippi's two-year colleges.

The grant will fund membership scholarships - called Golden Opportunity Scholarships - for 6,600 students in Mississippi over three years, enabling them to join Phi Theta Kappa without having to pay the $60 international membership fee.

"In receiving this grant from the Woodward Hines Foundation, we can create more opportunities for students with financial constraints in joining Phi Theta Kappa," said Robin Lowe, contact advisor for Itawamba Community College's Upsilon Sigma Chapter. "With the amount of transfer scholarships available to community college students who join Phi Theta Kappa, students can make their dreams of attending a university a reality." ICC President Dr. Jay Allen agreed. "It is a great way to assist our students with financial challenges to be a part of an international community college honorary society. This grant could make it possible for additional students to further develop leadership and academic skills as well as make them eligible for transfer scholarships."

Research shows that PTK members in Mississippi are twice as likely to complete college and three times more likely to transfer to a four-year college or university when compared to other students in the state, even those with similar grade point averages. But, the cost of membership is often a barrier for students with financial need.

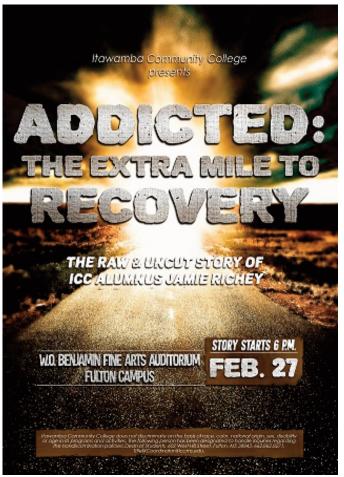

"We viewed this as an opportunity to increase access to an organization that provides academic, social and financial support to an otherwise vulnerable population of students," said Jim McHale, WHEF president and CEO. "Ultimately, the WHEF grant could provide a model for other organizations and states seeking to achieve high impact in the two-year environment."

This is not the first time WHEF has partnered with Phi Theta

Kappa to put membership within reach for in-need students. In 2016, WHEF awarded a $50,000 grant to fund Golden Opportunity Scholarships for 750 high-achieving but underserved college students throughout the state over two years.

As of June 2018, the WHEF Golden Opportunity Scholarships had yielded a 97 percent student success rate. Twenty-eight percent of recipients had earned a college credential, and 69 percent were still enrolled at a two- or four-year institution.

"Engagement with college faculty, increased access to scholarships, personal and professional development and an environment with the expectation to complete college - all of this has been shown to increase completion rates, and all of it comes with membership in Phi Theta Kappa," PTK President and CEO Dr. Lynn Tincher-Ladner said. "We are grateful to the Woodward Hines Education Foundation for ensuring there are no barriers to these opportunities for Mississippi students in need."

ICC's administration needs the assistance of all students in reviewing instruction and supportive services.

Students may provide their opinions through the spring semester's Student Evaluation of Instruction, according to Diann Nichols, assessment coordinator in the office of Strategic Planning and Institutional Effectiveness. Each student will receive these based on term dates. Students will receive an email survey for each class (traditional and online) in which they are enrolled. SEIs will also populate inside each course in Canvas so that students may choose to take the SEI via the email invitation or Canvas link based on personal preference for each class, Nichols said.

All student surveys remain anony-surveys throughout the semester mous, and instructors do not receive the SEI results until after submitting final grades at the end of each semester. ICC's administration may review all comments made in the SEIs.

> Student services surveys for admissions, financial aid, student activities and student housing will be sent with a separate link for each survey to student email addresses and be available at staggered times through March and

Because student opinions are very important to improving the services and instruction that ICC provides, the administration encourages each student to complete all surveys, Nichols said.

Students will receive the student services surveys through their ICC email address.
